

Sir Stirling Moss.

Sir Stirling has enjoyed the benefits of his Dataterm Heating Control in his Mayfair home for many years.

A number of years ago his home featured in a Sunday Color Supplement because of the number of novel features in it including very good use of space in the 6 floor property and its essential garage, storage to his latest cars.

Apart from well appointed offices and kitchen and sunken bath it also had the latest in efficient heating with skirting board heating panels in place of radiators so that they did not intrude into the décor.

At the heart of the heating system were 2 condensing boilers and a heating control from Warmworld the Dataterm EMS+ Energy Management System.

We were delighted to update Sir Stirling to the very latest Dataterm IHC Intelligent Heating Control as soon as it became available and this has helped to make his heating system even more efficient benefitting from the very latest technology which he is very interested in.

More recently Warmworld were able to better control the Dual Boiler Installation with the BS2CO Boiler Sequencer as fitted by Evans Property Services, this will apply even wear and tear to the plant and hopefully reduce running and maintenance cost's.

A Quote from Sir Stirling Moss...
